o What are the key issues that might influence a solution?
o What makes this a dilemma?

o Can I think of any similar situations that have happened to me?
o What did I do?
o Was it successful?
o How many solutions can we find?
o Can we think of any more ideas?

o What precisely would be done?
o What would happen if this were done?
o How would we know if it were successful?
o What would happen if we tried and failed?
o How likely is it to be successful?
o Which three shall we choose?
o Are we all happy with our choices?

About you:
o How do you feel about the choice of solutions?
o Do you have anything you wish to say from your own point of view or experience?

About the main character:
o How would the main character feel?
o What would it mean for him or her?
o What would happen to him or her as a result of the actions?
o What's the best that could happen to him or her?
o What's the worst that could happen to him or her?

o   Who is mentioned in the dilemma?
o   Is there anyone else who might be affected?

o   What would happen to the character?
o   How would he or she feel?
o   How would he or she feel if they found out what had happened?
o   What would he or she like to happen?
o   What does he or she know about the dilemma and the suggested solution?
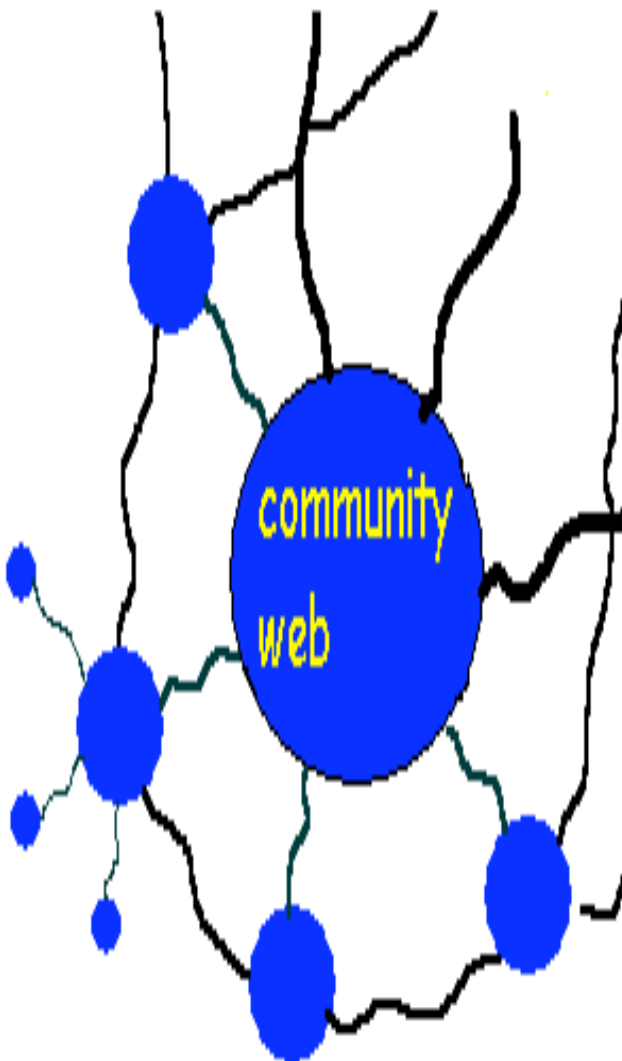

community web

o   What communities are involved? (School, family, village etc.)
o   What would happen if everyone chose to do this?
o   What would people think about the community?
o   How would it look to other people?
o   What would happen in the long term to the family or class?
o   What might other people in the community learn from what had happened?
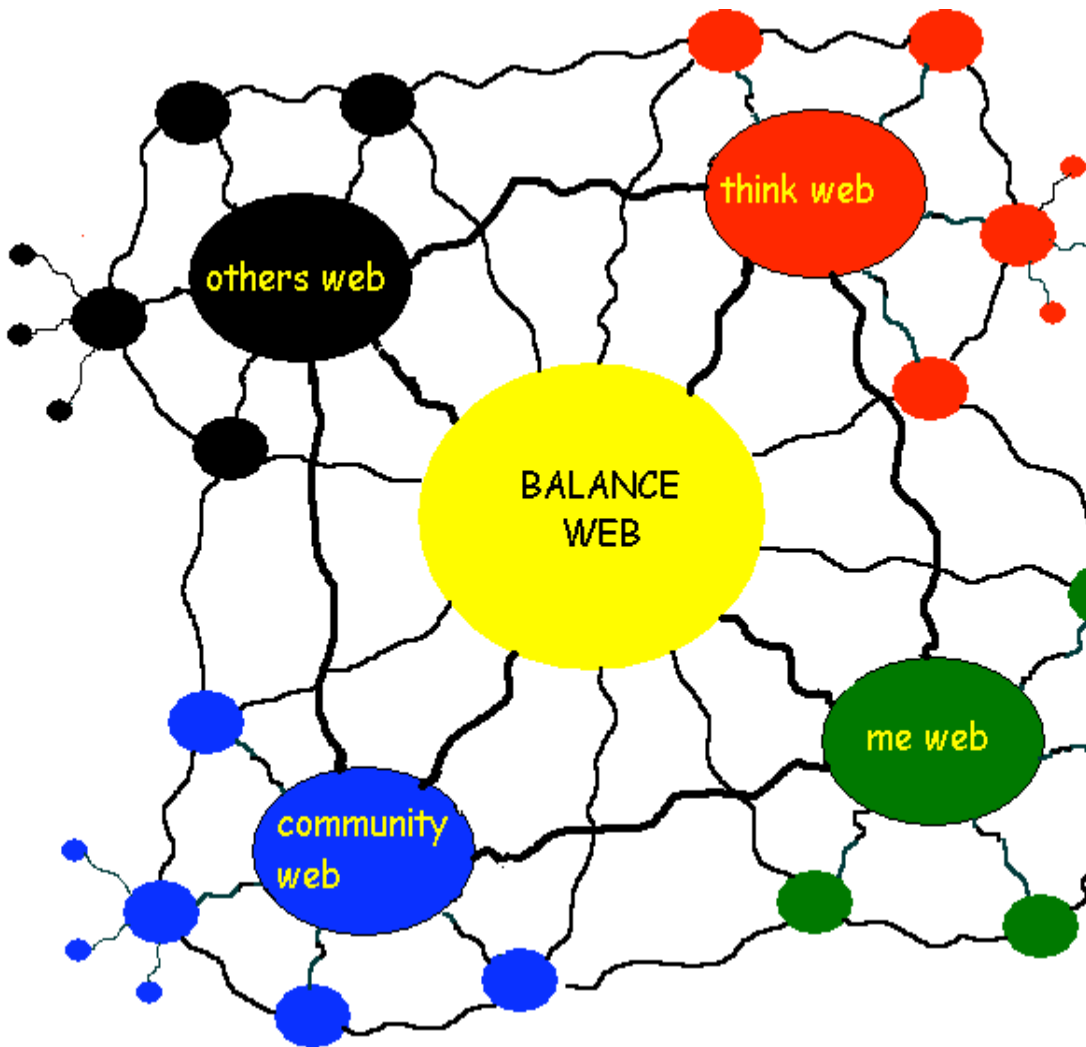

Think by yourself and then together:

o   Which solution do you feel is the right choice?
o   Why do you think this?
o   What were the good things about this choice?
o   What were the bad things?
o   What about the other solutions – why have you rejected them?

o Did you listen well and learn from each other?

o Did you build on each other's ideas or did you defend your own even though it might not have been the 'wisest' solution?

o Are you pleased with your contributions?

Group Web

o How do you feel now the enquiry is over?

o Do you think you worked together to find the best/wisest solution?

o Are you happy with the final choice?

o Did you change your ideas?

o Did you ask questions?
