(APEX)
Andrew Henon
(Artist/educator)

Tuesday 10th November 2009
OR
Monday 16th November
9am-12pm
Fry's, Keynsham

This free workshop is for pupils (of all ages) and teachers and is aimed at developing individual research talents to improve personal and collaborative learning.

The event will give participants the opportunity to work as part of a group to: identify what is important to them; decide what they will do to improve, and consider how they might continue to develop.

There will be an emphasis on improving learning through TASC (Thinking Actively in a Social Context) and activity to form the basis of an ongoing class, school or community initiative.

The workshop will contribute towards a range of national initiatives including:

- Personalisation of Learning
- Inclusion
- Well-being
- Learning Beyond the Curriculum
- Learners' Voice
- Lifelong Learning
- The Standards Agenda
- Narrowing the Gap
- Gifts and Talents.

Please identify pupils and teachers who would benefit from this workshop & complete & return the attached booking form ASAP.
