 Living Educational Theory Masters

At the heart of my autobiography is the realisation that my own living theory started to emerge, Whitehead (1989). "How do I make a better life for myself and others?" Whitehead (1998:4) encourages the autobiography of learning where one's present practice is explained and evaluated by past practices. This is done with the intention of creating a "better future" which is not yet in existence (Whitehead 1998:4)
