IDENTITY:

- Hi! My name is Jessica Jacobs. I'm a 24 year old graduate, I studied Business Management at NMU and graduated in April 2022. I am now working as an intern at the HoC, assisting with administrative tasks and look forward to expanding my skill set further. So far, working at the Hubs of Convergence has taught me how important community engagement is, as well as how society is facing real problems and that companies and large institutions like the university are able to address and assist with these challenges in order to develop communities. I consider myself very goal-orientated. So, in 5 years time I see myself having a job I love. I've got a high interest in working in the financial management industry. However, I am very open to other industries related to my qualification. I believe that if I was employed by a private company instead of the HoC, I would not get that much exposure as to how important community engagement is. The HoC shifted my perspective and it's definitely something I would carry with me as I grow professionally.
