The living poster allowed me to reflect on how I would position myself as a lecturer of Elementary Teacher Education do transformative learning to enhance competence of my students who will become teachers after they graduate.

Work Experience

I have been teaching for approximately 4 years. Before becoming a lecturer, I was a teacher in elementary school. After becoming a lecturer, I teach to prepare students to become teachers in the future. The increasing demands of teacher competence require me to innovate in teaching. I invite students to discuss issues relevant to the course, give students observation assignments in the field (elementary school), make projects, and write scientific articles. The hope is that students can improve their critical thinking, creative, collaboration, and communication skills.
